ADMINISTRATIVE HISTORY

“Pat Leslie, editor of the feminist newspaper The Other Woman, was the custodian of the first Canadian Women’s Archives (CWMA) documents. From 1977 until 1983 she preserved material relating to the Canadian Women’s Movement in her apartment, until a Canada Community Development Grant allowed her to re-locate the documents to a room in the building on the corner of Spadina and College (next to the Women’s Information Centre). After the move, the collection was catalogued and became readily available to a select group of researchers.

After 1992, when the CWMA records were donated to the University of Ottawa, took over the CWMA’s mandate and started accepting new donations that would become a part of the

CUSTODIAL HISTORY

The Other Woman (1972-1977), Pat Leslie (1977-1982 ou 3), Collective of the Canadian Women’s Movement Archives (1982 ou 3-1992). In 1992, the collective folded and all the records were donated to the Archives and Special Collections of the Morisset Library, University of Ottawa.

The records in this fonds were acquired in different ways. Some were accumulated as part of The Other Woman’s activities. Others were sent to the archives when organizations ceased operations. Also, as it is the case for most posters, some records were mailed to the CWMA (while in Toronto) at the time of publication. Members of the collective also donated records they themselves accumulated as part of their own feminist activities’ involvement. Finally, the University of Ottawa staff also added some records to the fonds after the 1992 donation, generally when a change of format for conservation purpose occurred.

Note on arrangement and description

For the most part, the main files were kept in their the original alphabetical order of the files have been kept. We’ve made an exception in the following circumstances:

- when the name of an organization appeared both in French and English, the content of both files were combine into under the English name;
- when the accronyme was used as a file title, it was replaced by the name in full and the file was moved to a new location according the alphabetical order;
- file titles were slightly changed: we’ve added all types of information (ex. accronymes, location, description of the content, extreme dates, etc.);
- if a file contained only newsletters or other sort of publications, they were all sent to cataloguing and the file title was removed from the list

Administrative files, originally placed in filing cabinets, were boxed according to the order they were found in.

Note on language

In all cases where an organization had a known bilingual name, English was used first in the file title since the bulk of the fonds is in this language, and the French version was included in the file title – allowing search in either languages.

Files’ descriptions were made in English only when the organization functionned in English only or both in French and English. Files’ descriptions were made in French only when the organization functioned only in that language.

We have used the following abbreviations for Canadian provinces and territories when describing the location of an organization or event. These are based on the Canada Post website.
